Daniel Willingham - January 3, 2012 at 5:00 p.m.

Author and Professor, Daniel Willingham will host “Parenting for Academic Success” and discuss research regarding the role of hard work, effort, and self-regulation as it applies to the academic setting and academic success. He will share implications for parenting practices that support the development of these desired qualities and dispositions in children.

Our presentation will begin at 5:00 p.m., with light refreshments available afterward as well as a book-signing opportunity.

Daniel Willingham earned his B.A. from Duke University in 1983 and his Ph.D. in Cognitive Psychology from Harvard University in 1990. He is currently Professor of Psychology at the University of Virginia, where he has taught since 1992.
