

Day 2 – Quito to Cotopaxi National Park to The Black Sheep Inn

Early wake up, which through the views of the teenage mind, is never a good thing. After Breakfast we load up the bus and head out, our destination being Cotopaxi National Park, hoping to see the countryside and the Cotopaxi Volcano, the largest active volcano in the world. Unfortunately the Shaman cast clouds over the volcano and we were unable to see the mountain at it's fullest. After a great hike around a lagoon in the park, we boarded the bus and headed towards the Black Sheep Inn. Only a little advice: don't sit in the back. We arrived after a long ride and settled in great. Tomorrow on to crater lake!

Our adventure continues ...
